HISTORY OF MORGAN—HISTORICAL PARALLEL.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Among the many contributions to the historical literature of the late war, which are the most valuable and interesting, we rank "The History of Morgan's Cavalry," by Basil W. Duke, the able and popular second in command of that celebrated corps. There were few incidents in the struggle that were more remarkable in their character, more romantic and marvellous in their nature, than those associated with the great Southern raiders of Kentucky. General Duke has told the story of this extraordinary corps with signal fidelity, accuracy, and modesty, and in well chosen and perspicuous language portrayed the many eventful scenes that transpired during the period of its duration. Impartial truth, it is evident, is the great aim of the author, and he has, therefore, wisely, as we think, not drawn upon the embellishments of fancy, or given a too vivid coloring to that which, in no respect, needed adventitious aids to commend it to a general perusal. The political spirit of the writer, who was an important actor in the late bloody and never-to-be forgotten struggle, is calm and temperate, almost remarkable, when we consider that the heat and fervor of the fight has not materially abated.

Though written from a Southern point of view, it is in every respect a national work, and contains little that the most fastidious Northern partisan can object to. In this the author of the history, who has himself assisted to make it, has set an excellent example to many of the writers who had no other participation in the contest than through their prejudices and passions. We are much interested in the days of the Confederacy, and the incidents that ensued in Virginia after the surrender of General Lee and the flight of President Davis. General Duke was a participant in those trying and memorable events which will ever be deeply engraven upon the tablets of history.—There is much in the sorrow, gloom and humiliation which attended the flight of Mr. Davis and the ruin of the Southern Confederacy, in April, 1865, that reminds us of the darkness and clouds behind which the sun of Napoleon set at Fontainebleau in March and April, 1814.

The Southern Confederacy for a year or two had been sinking and succumbing to the overwhelming forces arrayed against it, just as the French empire had previously been tottering to its fall. The Southern leaders found themselves in the Spring of 1865 as Napoleon had likewise, in 1814, at the head of an exhausted people and an army that was so ruined and decimated that it could no longer make head against the overwhelming strength of its enemies. What the war with Europe for twenty years had done for Napoleon, had been accomplished by the four year contest the South had so bravely waged against the almost inexhaustible resources of the Federal Government. The evacuation of Richmond was like the surrender of Paris. The capitulation of Lee, who, with his feeble but gallant army, had so long stood between the Confederacy and destruction, was in its effects, like the capitulation of Marshal Marmont in ——. The leaders who surrounded Napoleon were struck with horror at these calamities, just as the government of President Davis was appalled when they saw the yawning chasm that had opened beneath their feet. In the feelings consequent upon these melancholy reverses Napoleon attempted to commit suicide, but President Davis displayed much more fortitude and strength of will. He was the last at the council board to yield up the fallen and ruined cause, and with distress and anguish unspeakable turned his horse toward the banks of the Mississippi, which he was never destined to reach. The despair, the terror, and the gloom which acted upon the South at the close of this calamitous struggle, in which they had been simply worn out before superior numbers, was greater than in France in 1814, although the latter had the Cossacks and other northern barbarians at their very gates. The distress, the horror, and consternation which ensued at the apparent subjugation, have had, as events prove, too much reason for their inspiration. The events which have been transpiring at Washington for the last two or three years prove that the conquerors are neither wise, just, nor humane, and have not the least idea that any profit of their victory shall go toward securing national peace and unity in the future. The severity of the Cossack was tender mercy to France, compared with the cruel enormities which are now being inflicted upon the South by their old partners and associates in past national glory and prosperity.

[From the National Intelligencer.]

A MOURNFUL TRAGEDY.

"Ah me! how weak a thing,
The heart of woman is!"

Some years ago the fashionable world of Gotham was startled from its proprieties at the announcement, in gossipping circles, and shortly afterwards in sensational papers, that Minnie Boker, the youthful daughter of Mr. Boker, a millionare, had, in an evil hour, become enamored of her father's coachman, and consented to a secret marriage. The foolish attachment became known to the father when too late to remedy, and he subsequently disowned the foolish and erring child. Having carried off, with her father's consent, all her jewelry and personal effects, she was enabled to set her husband up in business—in a restaurant, we believe. Love in a cottage went on smoothly until Mr. Boker died, and it was found that he had not forgiven his daughter, and, as a consequence, had not willed one cent of his immense possessions to her. Mr. Dean, the "coachman husband," had a change to come o'er the spirit of his dreams. In the marriage he evidently had an eye to the main chance—the money bags of his father-in-law; and these failing in fruition, his love for "Minnie" waned, chilled, till coldness begat neglect, neglect brought forth weeping appeals from the youthful victim; weeping appeals from the victim of a romantic attachment begat abuse from the husband; and thus in the struggle and turmoil of life Dean and his wife were lost to public view, and the story which had excited all Gotham became a part of the dim past. A subsequent act in the domestic tragedy has just transpired in this goodly city, which we will briefly relate:

A gentleman of our city, who spends considerable time in alleviating the suffering and want in the lower strata of human society, was, some weeks ago, called upon to help a woman in the lowest depths of privation, and in a personal interview with her, although the being before him was dressed in the scanty, ragged, and coarse garbs of squalid poverty, and although her breath reeked with the fumes of villainous liquor, yet there was that in her manners, her language, and her tone which surely indicated that she had moved in higher circles and that she had been familiar with virtuous life.

An examination revealed the fact that the degraded and poverty-stricken being before him was the once celebrated Minnie Boker; that, abused, beaten, and starved by her husband, she was finally compelled to leave him, and, alas for human nature! to drown her grief and sorrow in liquor. The sympathies of the gentleman were aroused, and he made temporary provision for her, and afterwards induced a religious society to take her in charge and give her a home. Here she remained, apparently contented and grateful, for obvious reasons assuming another name—Sarah Milton. About a month ago she told the matron that a female friend had a shawl belonging to her, and she was going to recover it, and under this plea went out from the home. She was known to have fifty cents with her, given her a by a female friend, to make some purchase for her

Since then she has not been seen by any one interested in her, but definite rumors have reached them that she has purchased liquor at several low "drinkeries."

"This and nothing more" is one of the saddest events in domestic life, but sorrowful thoughts suggest themselves which are not creditable to human nature. We cannot see that the stern father was justified, on any [illegible] principles, in thus abandoning a [illegible] to a fate which he must have foreseen.

We most sincerely trust, for the sake of human nature, that the conscience of the brothers, who inherited the immense wealth of Mr. Boker—thus increased by the worse than death of a sister—are daily and nightly agitated, and that they will continue so till they seek out and provide for and save (for who will doubt that she can be saved!) an only sister.

We offer to the public this celebrated Oil, and in doing so we unhesitatingly pronounce it Superior to any Burning Oil in Use. It is Non-Explosive. Free from Grease. It will not grease the hands. It will not soil or grease the clothing. It is more brilliant than Gas. It produces a soft and beautiful light. It is not so trying to the eyes. It can be used in any Kerosene Lamp by adopting our

LIGHT HOUSE OR RACTCHET BURNERS.

It has been most favorably received, and pronounced by judges to be the

THE BEST AND MOST RELIABLE OIL

now in the market; and in consequence of the many serious accidents arising from the EXPLOSION OF KEROSENE, this Oil is extensively known and used in preference.

We are now prepared to furnish the trade with this valuable Oil, and we solicit from the public an examination and trial.

MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 25, 1867.

WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE?

The bon mot of some one of the humorous writers of the day, viz: that "the reason why the South is not represented is because it has been mis-represented," is an epitome of the whole truth in the case. But for the studious misrepresentations and libels of anonymous and other correspondents of the Northern press, the gross perversions of fact that have been made even in the formal reports of a certain class of prejudiced and interested officials, and, above all, but for the mean and malignant slanders of native persons and presses, the States of the South would have been, more than twelve months since, in the full enjoyment of all their normal constitutional relations to the government. Public sentiment, North and South, immediately after the cessation of hostilities, was ripe for prompt re-union. The South wearied, exhausted, over-thrown, earnestly longed for peace, rest and a return to the allegiance which it had vainly sought to throw off. Convinced, by the severest demonstration, of the futility of its resistance, it stood ready to look its former antagonist bravely in the face, and say, with perfect confidence in the success of the appeal, "we have fought,—you have vanquished,—let us be friends again." The North, aglow with triumph, could well afford, and was apparently disposed, to be magnanimous. Besides, every legislative, executive and public utterance, pending the war, had solemnly asserted its object, on the part of the government, to be solely to compel the insurgent States to resume their allegiance. No one dreamed, for a few months after the close of the struggle, that there could be any longer delay in re-adjusting the machinery than was prescribed in the plan of President Johnson. It was just at this time that a set of reckless men in the South began, for the worst and most selfish purposes, to seek to revive prejudice and prolong agitation. Feeling that they had forfeited the confidence of their fellow citizens by a long course of duplicity, culminating in open treachery, and perceiving no opportunity, in the future, of regaining that confidence, they poisoned the air with the most false and wicked fabrications of persecution to Union and colored men. It was perhaps natural, under all the circumstances, that these stories should have found lodgment in the ears of the people of the North, and their acceptance was unfortunately aided blame for which is so well divided, probably, that it can be definitely laid to no particular class. And so it is, the South, in its present condition, primarily owes all its trouble to the exceeding malice, growing out of disappointed ambition, of men who were born and raised in its own borders.

The leaven has worked, as all such leaven will work, although not one solitary well-authenticated case of persecution of real Union men or of blacks has ever been presented. On the contrary, every specific allegation has been refuted. Those who have charged such persecution of Union men and blacks have themselves, when pressed to the wall, been ignominiously compelled to confess that that very persecution, so far as they (the Union men) were concerned, consisted in charging them with being in favor of granting the right of suffrage to those very blacks!

It is useless, perhaps, at this late day, to allude to these matters;—useless, perhaps, to argue that all classes in our midst are protected in their rights of person and property. One single bestial caricature in that most depraved of all periodicals, Harper's Weekly, would do away the effect of a thousand proven instances of justice, humanity or generosity. We assert, however, that so far as the State of North Carolina is concerned, (and we believe that the same may be said of the South, generally,) that justice, inflexible justice, is as impartially administered with us, this day, as it is in any State North of the Potomac. History will vindicate our character in all these respects, though we suffer in the present. We confess, however, that there is but feeble consolation in that assurance.

Apropos to these remarks:

It is stated that a highly respectable white citizen is now lying in the jail of Fairfield District, South Carolina, where he has been since November, 1866, and where he is condemned to remain until November 1867, and to pay a fine of $500, for the killing of a black man, who, as it was proven by the testimony, was firing on him (the white man) at the time he received his fatal wound. And at the late term of Orange Superior Court in this State, an aged and worthy citizen was convicted of manslaughter, and sentenced to pay a heavy fine, for the accidental killing of a colored man. Such instances look as if, in the exceeding anxiety of our Courts and people to avoid the appearance of oppression or of making undue discrimination, before the law, between the races, they had actually carried their caution to the prejudice of the white man.

STATE SWAMP LANDS.—Gen. Gwynn, in a recent examination of the State Swamp Lands in the Counties of Jones and Onslow, finds 94,000 acres, in one body, we believe, which he considers may be drained, and which are equal in fertility, when brought under cultivation, to the best Hyde County lands.

THE CINCINNATI Gazette, (Radical,) quoting, approvingly, from a recent issue of the Standard, speaks of that paper as "Gov. Holden's organ." True, but rather unkind, Mr. Gazette.

LETTER OF B. F. MOORE, ESQ.

We find the following extract from a letter of B. F. Moore, Esq., to a friend, in the last Old North State, which deserves consideration. There are very few men, if any, in the State, who have maintained such consistency, as a Union man, as Mr. Moore, and none who, as such, have enjoyed to a greater extent the public confidence. With Mr. Moore, we have always held that the State had never been out of the Union. Now, with him, we believe the best security to peace and restoration is to yield to the unequivocally expressed judgment of the "powers that be":

Raleigh, N. C., March 16, '67.

* * * * *

I am much obliged to you for your good opinion of my patriotism as a Union man during the late conflict of arms between the Northern and Southern sections of the Union.

Before the dreadful conflict began, I did all that I could, in decency, to forewarn my countrymen against it. After it was begun I did all that a man might, with becomingness to check it and restore the Union. The dreadful conflict is past, and we are, politically, one people again. It should be the policy of wise statesmen to make us, cordially, one people. If this be not accomplished now, the time will not be long before other convulsions will arise to rend us to pieces. Now, my dear sir, I have been reared up under the National flag to boast of it; to rejoice at its glories and to feel myself, at all times, and in every country, safe under its folds, and I would be very glad to transmit these great privileges to my posterity.—When our late troubles commenced I feared that these privileges were all gone. It may be that they are. But let me assure you, that my belief is, that if ever the hope of them shall return, it will be under the National Flag which floated over us when the unfortunate strife commenced.

Allow me to say to you, that I am for getting back into the Union, because the Union will be our protection and our palladium. Far more efficient for our safety and liberty than any promise from severance and separate action. This is no new idea with me. I have promulgated it during my life—and did so publicly on the eve of the recent great war.

Many schemes have been offered to us, of reclaiming our rights in the Union—you know that I have never admitted that I was or had at any time been out of the Union, that I thought the attempted separation was a mere nullity, but I am taught to yield to the opinion of my countrymen; and, therefore, I submit to what has been determined by the supreme authorities. I shall submit, myself; and I shall inculcate submission among my fellow citizens, who may seek my counsel. I hope that all of them may obey, cheerfully, whatever may be the policy of the Government. For the communities of the South are all either now, or to be, States of the Union with equal rights, federal and state, and any one State, North or South, can about as well as another, bear the restrictions deemed necessary for all. I shall embrace the policy adopted for reconstructing the State Government and give it my support; although I do not think it in accordance with the doctrines of our forefathers as to the character and nature of our Union. But we live in a republican government and ought to yield to its unequivocally expressed judgment.

I am, truly yours,

B. F. MOORE.

* * *

It will be seen that our telegram, to-day, announces the issuing of Gen. Sickles' order. It is, in substance, what the people are prepared to expect. It evinces a becoming anxiety for the preservation of law and order, and expresses a proper interest in the quiet and peace of society. The civil authorities are expected to continue in the exercise of their proper functions, and will not be interfered with in the enforcement of all laws, in accordance with the laws of the United States. Where offenders are permitted to go unpunished, or crime is overlooked, the Commanding General will see to the prompt execution of the law.

We have no doubt the civil officers, and the people of the States, will readily and promptly give the commanding General their cordial co-operation.

INTERNAL REVENUE ACT.—We are indebted to the U. S. Assessor of Internal Revenue in this State, Rev. Solomon Pool, for a pamphlet copy of the Internal Revenue Act, as amended by the last Congress. We shall try to lay before our readers such portions of it as they may be interested in.

* * *

THE MEETING composed of the gentlemen invited by Mr. C. L. Harris to assemble in this City, on the 27th inst., will be held in the Commons Hall, on Wednesday.

* * *

HOW IT MAY BE DONE.

With reference to the time needed to carry into effect the Congressional plan of reconstructing the Union, the New York Herald says:

"The military commanders are allowed all the interval to the last day of August to appoint their registering places and subordinate officers, to prepare their plans, rules and books, and to make their registrations. But we think that all this work may be easily done by the first of June. Then thirty days' notice for the election of a convention will bring that election on the first of July. Then, assuming that the whole interval of sixty days allowed will pass before the convention elected and ordered shall assemble, it will bring us round to the first of September with the full organization of the convention. Let us say next that it will occupy a month in framing a State constitution under the terms of Congress, and as another month will then pass before a ratification can be had from the people, this ratification will carry us to the first of November. Meantime, under the act of March 2d, a State Legislature must be elected, and it must ratify the pending constitutional amendment, and this amendment must be declared a part of the Federal constitution before any one of the outside States can be restored. But all these conditions may be fulfilled in season for the regular meeting of Congress in December next, if the President of the United States, his commanding district generals and official subordinates and the ruling politicians and white people of the ten States concerned will only act harmoniously together in view of the great desideratum of a restoration to Congress as soon as possible."

THE GRAPE CULTURE.

This subject, we are glad to find, is exciting very general interest. Our Virginia neighbors seem inclined to test the culture of the vine. The test in this State has been satisfactory, that the grape can be produced in the greatest perfection. Under a proper system of cultivation, and the production of only the best varieties, it cannot be doubted that the product can be largely increased.

Our cotemporary, the Norfolk Virginian, has collated the following facts, which go to show, most conclusively, the value of the crop over any other article now cultivated in this State. We have taken the liberty of correcting the errors which occur in our cotemporary's figures. The Virginian says:

"The estimated yield per acre in Ohio is 200 gallons; in California 800 gallons; and the number of vines now bearing in the latter State is 4,500,000, with a yield of a gallon to each vine.

In North Carolina the native Scuppernong is more fruitful, and is probably better suited to our climate, and would doubtless pay better in Virginia than any other variety.—In two years this species begins to bear, and it arrives at maturity in seven years. A vine of seven years growth will cover 2,000 square feet; and an acre of ground will accommodate, after allowing for pass-ways, 15 vines, each of which will yield 14 bushels, or 50 gallons of juice, about 3½ gallons to the bushel. Thus, an acre will grow 15 vines, which will yield 210 bushels or 735 gallons of pure wine. This wine would, surely, at this time, bring, in any market, $2 per gallon, making the yield in gross:

Gallons, 735 at $2		$1,470 00
Cost of sugar	$100
Cost of labor, &c.,	200	300 00
Nett balance		$1,170

If the above statement be correct, and we believe that it is strictly so, from the circumstance that we have placed our facts and figures below what would be warranted by the evidences before us, we think a sufficient inducement is presented to warrant a serious consideration of the suggestion which we make. The process of making wine it is not our intention, at present, to consider.

When we have stated that an acre of ground will produce 735 gallons of wine, and that $11.70 per acre is below a reasonable amount to be realized from its sale, we would ask if any known product will yield half as much?

Cotton is above the average standard of products, and any farmer hereabouts would deem his labors amply rewarded if from his most productive fields he could gather 400 pounds, which, valued at 30 cents, would give him $120 per acre."

MINING IN CHATHAM.

HAYWOOD, CHATHAM CO. N. C.,
March 22, 1867.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I see you request information in regard to the manufacturing and mineral interests of this State, which you generously propose to publish for the benefit of the public.

I therefore beg leave to make known, through your valuable journal, some facts in regard to the hidden wealth of this immediate section.

Some twenty years since, the late Jonathan Haralson obtained, by surface washing, three or four hundred pennyweights of gold one of the finest and most valuable specimens ever found in this State. While those then gold-mining in Moore and other Western counties could only sell their product at 80 to 88 cents per pennyweight, he readily (I am informed) sold this gold for $1,00 to $1,03. I was also informed, by Colonel J. S. Lasater, who owns a portion of the lands where this gold was found, that an ordinary field hand could easily collect, by washing the surface sand in these branches with a small iron pan, one pennyweight per day.

There is a high ridge or hill dividing the little streams flowing into the Haw and Deep rivers, (just above their junction,) which is generally supposed, by those acquainted with gold mining, to cover a very rich vein of gold, as the drains flowing from it contain quantities of fine particles of that metal; but, unfortunately, very little search has been made to discover the fountain head. This is just North of the coal and sandstone formation, in a line running Southwest with the mines of Moore and Montgomery.

There is a copper mine opened four miles West of this place to a depth of 60 feet, which promises to be one of the richest deposits in this State. Dr. Emmons was of opinion that this copper vein extended through several tracts of land South and North of Deep River. The surface indications are similar and can be easily traced several miles.

A company of gentlemen commenced, in 1861, boring for salt, at a point 2½ miles east of Haywood, at the suggestion of Dr. Emmons, and at a distance of 145 feet obtained water that yielded one bushel to 800 gallons of the brine. But for the want of material to continue the boring and keep out the surface water, (which could not then be obtained,) they were forced to suspend operations. The surface indications Dr. E. informed me were similar to the salt "Licks" in Washington County, Va. He also expressed the belief that, at the depth of 400 or 500 feet, salt could be manufactured here for 25 cents per bushel. Salt never has commanded in this county less than 50 cents and seldom below $1 per bushel.

With the superior water power on these rivers, the productiveness of soil and the Coal, Iron, Copper, Gold and Salt deposits, &c., &c., surrounding the junction of Haw and Deep rivers, this neighborhood is capable of sustaining an immense population. Our people have not the means to develop this wealth. Nearly all that will work are engaged in farming. Therefore the lands and power can be bought very low, and any enterprising capitalist (I will guarantee) will be treated by all as a gentleman that may locate here, so long as he acts as such, I care not where he may hail from.

This is an excellent opening for Mechanical Tradesmen, Retail Merchants or manufacturing upon a large scale. I know owners that would subscribe their land and power and take its value in stock in any company that would improve the same. Houses and land can be bought here for the annual rent paid in Raleigh and many other places. The only drawback is the want of transportation. If the Chatham Rail Road could only be completed to Deep River, it would infuse new life into the whole surrounding country. The road bed is nearly ready for iron from Page's, 8 miles west of Raleigh, to this place. It will and must be built very soon, and now is the time to invest advantageously. Any wishing further information in regard to this section will please address

Your obedient servant,

JNO. W. SCOTT.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State, provided, that no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil governments which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

A WHITE MULE.—The New Orleans Crescent, 19th, says: A friend told us yesterday of an amusing scene he witnessed lately at the old river ford, near Natchitoches, in this State. A negro had a wagon and a team of six mules which he wished to drive across. The two lead mules took kindly to the water, but one of the hind ones, a white mule, obstinately refused to enter the stream. Jumping from his seat in a furious passion, the teamster began beating the perverse one with might and main, exclaiming between the blows, "You think you's white does you? But I'll show you dam quick, colored mule is as good as you is. Gee up!"

TRIAL OF SURRATT.—It is thought that the trial of John H. Surratt, charged with being connected with the murder of President Lincoln, will be commenced at an early day, this term of the court, although no definite time has yet been agreed upon. Already several witnesses from a distance have arrived, and summonses are out for others. Surratt continues in good health, and talks confidently of being acquitted.—Sun.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HO! TO THE PUBLIC!!

NOW, THAT ALL SHALL WORK FOR THEIR bread is a lesson divinely taught, and the truth of which is sorely felt and urged by the hard times that are upon us, labor-saving machines have a greater claim to the attention of the laborer than, perhaps, ever before.

W. A. Coe's "Apple Parer, Cutter, and Corer" patented "Feb. 19th. 1867," and his "Peach Parer and Cutter," patented "Oct. 30th. 1860," are some of the things needed by the times, and are now offered to the patronage of the public. The Apple Parer, Cutter, and Corer is cheap, portable and simple in its parts, and can, by a little practice, be well worked by a child ten or twelve years old. By trial, it has proved a capacity to Pare, Cut, and Core Thirty Bushels of Apples in a day, and to do this, by the control of one person. The Peach Parer and Cutter is similar in its parts, with the working tools adapted to the difference of the fruit and work to be done. It is as readily worked as the first named, and will do the amount of work of six hands in a given time, managed by one person.

Propositions for shop, county or State rights for the manufacture and sale of these machines, will be entertained by either of the undersigned.

FERTILIZERS
FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 325 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 PARTS CONSIST OF
Moisture	[illegible]
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	[illegible]
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	[illegible]
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 4-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	[illegible]
Salts	[illegible]
Insoluble	[illegible]

The animal matter afforded 4 2-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 25, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—J. Brown (with Hart and Lewis) continues to make additions to his large and useful stock.

Mitchell, Allen & Co., again make an attractive announcement, which the reader will do well to consult.

Mr. Harriss, Assistant City Constable, has found a sum of money, which the owner can obtain by describing the same and paying cost of advertising.

Pulliam, Jones & Co. call attention to one of the largest consignments of goods ever sent to this market. See advertisement for particulars.

R. B. ANDREWS & Co. are receiving (and will announce to the public in a few days) an elegant stock of Men and Boys' Ready Made Spring and Summer Clothing. This firm cannot be surpassed for the finish of their styles and the superiority of their manufacture. They will present unusual attractions the coming season. Call and get "fits."

MAYOR'S COURT.—Three discharged colored soldiers were arrested by officer Harris, on Saturday afternoon, charged with stealing a pocket-book, containing $22, from a countryman, named Spencer, while trading in Kline's store, on Fayetteville Street. The money was recovered and delivered to the owner.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?—The Montgomery Advertiser says under this head: "Some people wonder how it is that a few business men make a heap of money, while others are soon sold out by the Sheriff. The secret lies in two words—printer's ink. Cast a glance at our advertising columns and it will not take long to ascertain who is making money fast in the city of Montgomery. That's so!" And it is the case, too, in Raleigh and every other city."

THE LATE STORM.—The late storm has been felt severely all over the country. It has been severe on the coast, and the flood at the West has been unprecedented.

WE LEARN that Maj. Gen. Robinson has been in the City for two days, and left for Washington City last night.

THE GOVERNOR'S Council will meet to-morrow in the Executive Office.

FASHIONS FOR APRIL.—Owing to a dearth of local items, and aware of the absorbing interest which every woman feels in the fashions, we give the following description of spring bonnets, which is condensed from Mme. Demorest's Monthly Magazine:

"No addition to the size seems to be contemplated at present, so the chignon may be considered to be left undisturbed. The great variety of shape and style must suit all tastes and every description of face; and the peculiarity of the present styles is that faces long or short, round or thin, may each and all find something adapted to their distinctive characteristics.

The low-crowned Bernsee is adapted to elongated features, while the new Fanchon will suit pretty, fresh and youthful faces, and ladies stylish, but no longer young, will find the Castilian peculiarly fitted to a display of their mature charms.

The materials employed are more fanciful than ever; lace mounted with very narrow rouleaus of silk, crape mixed with straw, straw mixed with silk, satin mixed with lace, and straw braids as fine as lace, and exhibiting all sorts of fantastic devices, are among the chief elements of the new spring bonnets.

The Vandeau is retained, and a little cape and narrow brim added to the crown.—Very little trimming is needed or used, but among the novelties in this line we may notice a new method of braiding narrow ribbon, with two strands, into a wreath or cordon in the shape of what children would call "cat's stairs."

Narrow ribbons are used for strings, which are very long, and edged on either side with straw, lace or blonde.

Straw trimmings, marvellous for the beauty and delicacy of design and workmanship, are much in vogue, and are generally inwrought with beads of crystal, amber, jet or pearl.

The amber is a new element in trimming dresses and bonnets, but promises to become very popular. It is largely used in the same way as crystal and jet in beads, pendants and chains, but is not so universally becoming or well suited to all toilets.

Black crinoline bonnets trim handsomely with black lace and amber beads, with a malmaison rose for front trimming.

The most exquisite opera bonnets are composed entirely of feathers, short marabout tufts, with a slight mixture of crystal.

Carriage bonnets are made in the same style, of short black feathers, well curled, and ornamented on the left side with a rose.

On some of the earlier spring bonnets small flowers of cheneille, with a crystal centre, are worn, and they look very well running the centre of black or white lace barbes.

The latest Paris spring bonnet is said to be composed of a thread of white silk with a bead in the centre. This is cheap and simple, and will, we hope, be adopted by all ladies.

STATE ITEMS.

—— Dr. Isaac W. Jones, of Rowan, has been appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, Assayer of the Branch Mint of the U. S. at Charlotte in this State. Dr. Jones was appointed during the recess of Congress; consequently his commission expired with the 39th. Congress. This, therefore, is a re-appointment. Dr. Jones will make a good officer.

—— Mr. Jno. T. Marsh, of Anson county, was thrown from his buggy a few days ago, and so badly injured that he died in a short time. The breaking the harness caused his horse to run.

—— The rivers in the Eastern part of the State are greatly swollen. We learn, from the Norfolk Day Book, that the Roanoke and Meherrin, particularly, have inundated the surrounding country for many miles, and great apprehension exists that much property will be destroyed.

—— The Wadesboro' Argus learns that Gov. Worth and Gen. Robinson have ordered to that county 300 bushels of the corn appropriated by the Southern Relief Association of New York, to be distributed to the truly needy, without regard to race or color, politics or religion, and that L. L. Polk, Esq., and Capt. Wm. Macfarland, Agent of the F. B. for the county, have been appointed to distribute it.

—— The authorities of Salisbury have purchased a new engine, hose and hose reel. Raleigh may well profit by the example.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

The war resulted in the disfranchisement of the Southern people and the suspension of our State Governments. It is in vain to raise Constitutional questions—in vain to insist that our abstract rights are the same that they were before the war. We were conquered, and the conqueror prescribed terms, and we must, of necessity, conform to the facts of the situation. That conqueror now proposes to enfranchise the bulk of the Southern people—qualifiedly and probationally. If they will, by majorities in their several States, adopt Constitutions containing certain prescribed provisions, and by the Legislatures to be elected under such Constitutions, ratify the Constitutional amendment, they are promised restoration to their places in the Union which will secure to them absolutely the franchises and powers that pertain to the people of the Northern States. If they refuse acquiescence in these terms they will remain permanently disfranchised, and the blacks and the handful of "loyal whites" will doubtless be authorized to make a Constitution and laws to suit themselves. In addition to this, the confiscation bill of Thaddeus Stevens, now suspended over us in terrorem, will most probably be adopted by Congress and enforced against us. It is for us to say whether we will make an effort to avert these destructive measures, or by non-compliance, by passivity, invite them with all their horrors.

There are not wanting those who argue that should we even do all we are required to do, we will most probably be met by a flat denial of the promised benefit. They say we cannot trust the dominant party—that it is faithless and treacherous. We shall not undertake to defend the integrity of that party. We can only make answer that our hand is in the lion's mouth and we are obliged to trust to its magnanimity. If we refuse to trust the Radical party represented by Congress, (whether worthy or unworthy of confidence), we will be visited with the disfranchisement and confiscation to which we have referred—whereas if we trust it and comply with its requirements we may escape them. We will go further and say—the strong probability is that we will escape them. That pledge has impliedly been given by both Houses of Congress—and leading Radicals have bound themselves to it. Let us not in the very beginning give them, by our doubts, suspicions and imputations, a pretext for breaking their faith. It is now understood at the North and at the South, in Congress and out of Congress, that the military bill is designed as a restoration measure, and both sides should act under it in that spirit.

We have an interest in the Government of the United States. We are a part of that Government, and, whether we so will or not, will remain a part of it. Our attempt to withdraw from it did not proceed from a dislike of that Government in itself and properly administered, but from a fear of the mischievous consequences to us of a perversion of its objects and an abuse of its powers. It was to mal-administration, and not to the Constitution and Government, that we objected. To demonstrate this, we have only to refer to the fact that when we set up for ourselves we copied that Constitution. Had we not loved it we would not have adopted it.

Being under the Government of the United States, it is for us to say whether we will remain where the war placed us, bearing its burdens without enjoying its benefits, or whether we will endeavor to recover our suspended rights and franchises, and exert an influence in restoring the Government to its old foundations. In respect to this matter, our mind is free from every cloud of doubt.—Richmond Whig.

POLITENESS WELL REWARDED.—We have lately heard of a piece of good fortune in favor of a young friend, the son of as true and genuine a type of "the Old Virginia gentleman" as ever was seen, which proves that his inheritance of that attribute of his father's nature—politeness,—is as valuable as any gift that could have been left him.—The example is worthy of record, and our young readers would do well to profit by it.

Our young friend of whom we speak, was at one time during the war a student at Chapel Hill University, N. C., and one day, while on a visit to the village near by, was accosted by an old gentleman, who asked him to give him the direction to a certain house therein. The young gentleman, with his characteristic politeness, at once replied: "I will show you the way myself, sir." He did so; and the old gentleman finding that he was a Virginian, and attracted by his good manners, informed him that he was about to take up his residence at the village as a refugee, and invited him to call upon him. The young man had only time to do so once or twice before he bade his new old friend good-bye, and returned to Virginia. A few days since he learned, much to his surprise, that the old gentleman had lately died, and in his will was an article bequeathing to him the sum of $5,000, in consideration of his kindness.

No man ever loses anything by politeness; and it sometimes happens, as in this instance, that it meets with a rich reward.—Richmond Dispatch.

Monday Morning Dispatches.

CONGRESS—THE VETO MESSAGE—SUPPLEMENTAL BILL PASSED.

WASHINGTON, March 24.

The President returned the Supplemental bill to the House, with his objections, on yesterday. It is in effect as follows:

The bill provides for elections in ten States, for the purpose of making Constitutions. But all elections, while the original bill remains in force, come within its restrictions. Preliminary to the elections comes registration. The unregistered cannot vote. Preliminary to registration, a vague oath, that the applicant is not disfranchised by participation in rebellion, is required. The applicant for registration must decide for himself.—This is a fearful responsibility, for, though the bill does not assign perjury, nor fix a penalty for mistaken swearing, we must not forget that martial law prevails, and the affiant is responsible to military commissions, without previous presentment by Grand Juries, and the military Commander determines what is an offense and prescribes the punishment.

The fourth section provides that the military Commander shall appoint the necessary boards of registration, each board consisting of three loyal persons, who may be military officers, citizens of the State, or strangers, exercising important functions, and vested with unlimited discretions.—They decide questions and make return. Whatever errors or frauds they may commit pass unquestioned. By such measures the Conventions of States are to be constituted. These delegates are to speak for the people. Common justice requires that they should have authority from the people. No Convention, so constituted, will in any sense represent the wishes of the people. He does not deem it necessary to investigate further the details of the bill.

No consideration could induce him to approve such an election law, for any purpose, and especially for the purpose of forming Constitutions for States.

The President argues the question at some length, illustrating that the formation of republican governments, according to Congressional ideas, may as well commence in Ohio or Pennsylvania as North Carolina, and concludes:

"I confidently believe that the time will come when these States will occupy their true position in the Union. Barriers which now seem so obstinate must yield to the force of an enlightened and just public opinion, sooner or later. Unconstitutional and oppressive legislation will be effaced from the statute books. When this shall have been consummated, I pray God that the errors of the past may be forgotten, and that once more we shall be a happy, united and prosperous people, and that, at last, after the bitter and eventful experience through which the nation has passed, we shall all come to know that our only safety is in the preservation of the Federal Constitution, and in according every American citizen and every State the rights which that Constitution secures."

The bill passed, notwithstanding the veto, by 114 to 25.

In the Senate the Supplemental bill passed, 40 to 7.

A concurrent resolution to adjourn on Tuesday to the first Monday in December, passed.

WILLIAM H. OLIVER & Co.'s

COTTON FERTILIZER,

PREPARED BY

WILLIAM H. OLIVER & CO.

Newbern, N. C.

After consulting the wants of our agricultural friends, and calling the most practical, as well as scientific aid to our assistance, we have prepared a Fertilizer that we are fully persuaded will satisfy all who make use of it, of its immense profit and advantages in the growth of all kinds of plants, particularly in the growth, expansion and boiling of Cotton.

The composition is no secret, and is known to most of our friends. Fifty per cent. of Genuine Peruvian Guano (purchased direct from the agent of the Peruvian Government,) constitutes the ammoniacal. Twenty-five per cent. of finely ground Bones the Phosphatic—the balance is made up of such ingredients as have the power of fixing the ammonia.

No dirt, or water will be added to increase its weight. It is pure as represented, and all practical farmers know by experience the effect the above agents will produce.

An application of two hundred pounds to the acre, we feel confident, will double the product of land suited to the growth of Cotton.

We recommend the following as the best mode of applying the Fertilizer: Apply one hundred and twenty-five pounds to the acre at the time the Cotton is planted by covering it in the drill, and apply one hundred and twenty-five pounds on the side of the Cotton after the Cotton has been barred out, at the time of thinning.

WILLIAM H. OLIVER & CO.

We would call attention to the following:

We have been shown by Messrs. WILLIAM H. OLIVER & Co., a preparation made by them, and known as WILLIAM H. OLIVER & Co.'s Cotton Fertilizer.

The mode of preparing it, the material used, the proportions, &c., were fully explained to us, and we most unhesitatingly recommend it, as a most excellent Fertilizer.

The price of each article used in its manufacture was given, and we find, by calculation, the actual cash value of the ingredients used to be seventy dollars and fifty cents for each ton.—Messrs. OLIVER & Co. assure us that the proportions of the material used, and the mode of manufacture as explained to us, shall be maintained, and their standing will, we think, be a sufficient guarantee that their promises will be fulfilled:

W. B. Wadsworth, H. T. Guion, H. J. B. Clark, Saml. S. Bibble, John H Haughton, John Hughes, Henry C. Ligon, William Hassell, B. Weatherbee, Geo. W. Collier, K. R. Jones, G. F. M. Dail, Nath'l H. Stanton, James S. Lane, P. Merwin, John H. Nelson, Calvin Cox, John C. Washington.

We are prepared to furnish any quantity of the above Fertilizer at $75 per ton of 2000 pounds.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required.—In the single item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States. Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.

THE SENTINEL.

MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1867.

THE MILE STONE.

Along a road two Irish lads,
One summer's day were walking,
And all the while with laugh and shout,
In lively strain were talking.

About the fair—about the girls,
About who were best at dancing;
While at each pretty face they met,
Their eyes were brightly glancing.

And as they strode for many a mile,
They grew in time quite frisky,
As now and then, from lip to lip,
They passed the darling whisky.

At length before them in the hedge,
The road side view commanding,
They saw, its white sides lettered o'er,
A mile stone lonely standing.

They read and quickly doffed their hats,
With sorrow in their faces;
Then turning with reverential awe
They stepped back several paces.

"Speak low, we're near the dead," said one,
"His grave we'll not be troublin!
An old man sure! 100, and
His name is Miles from Dudlin!"

THE SOUTH.

We copy, from the Nashville Gazette, an extract of a lecture delivered in that city by Father Ryan, author of the "Conquered Banner:"

"A land without ruins is a land without memories—a land without memories is a land without liberty. A land that wears a laurel crown may be fair to see; but twine a few sad cypress leaves around the brow of any land, and be that land barren, beautiless and bleak, it becomes lovely in its consecrated coronet of sorrow, and it wins the sympathy of the heart and of history. Crowns of roses fade—crowns of thorns endure. Calvaries and crucifixions take deepest root of humanity—the triumphs of might are transient—they pass and are forgotten—the sufferings of right are graven deepest on the chronicles of nations:

Yes, give me the land where the ruins are spread,
And the living tread light on the hearts of the dead;
Yes, give me a land that is blest by the just,
And bright with the deeds of the down-trodden just.
Yes, give me the land where the battle's red blast
Has flashed on the future the form of the past;
Yes, give me a land that has legends and lays
That tell of the memories of long vanished days;
Yes, give me a land that hath story and song,
To tell of the strife of the right with the wrong;
Yes, give me a land with a grave in each spot,
And names in the graves that shall not be forgot;
Yes, give me the land of the wreck and the tomb,
There's a grandeur in graves—there's glory in gloom—
For out of the gloom future brightness is born,
As after the night looms the sunrise of morn;
And the graves of the dead with the grass overgrown,
May yet form the footstool of liberty's throne,
And each single wreck of the war-path of might,
Shall yet be a rock in the temple of right.

SOWING LITTLE SEEDS.

Little Bessie had got a present of a new book, and she eagerly opened it to look at the first picture. It was the picture of a boy sitting by the side of a stream, and throwing seeds into the water.

"I wonder what this picture is about," said she; "why does the boy throw seeds into the water?"

"O! I know," said her brother Edward, who had been looking at the book; "he is sowing the seeds of water-lilies."

"But how small the seeds look," said Bessie.

"It seems strange that such large plants should grow from such little things."

"You are just sowing such tiny seeds every day, Bessie, and they will come up large, strong plants after a while," said her father.

"Oh, no, father, I have not planted any seeds for a long while."

"I have seen my daughter sow a number of seeds to day.

Bessie looked puzzled, and her father smiled and said, "Yes I have watched you planting flowers, and seeds, and weeds today."

"Now I know that you are joking, for I would not plant ugly weeds."

"I will tell you what I mean. When you laid aside that interesting book, and attended to what your mother wished done, you were sowing seeds of kindness and love. When you broke the dish that you know your mother valued, and came instantly and told her, you were sowing seeds of truth. When you took the cup of cold water to the poor woman at the gate, you were sowing seeds of mercy. These are all beautiful flowers, Bessie. But I hope my little girl has been planting the great tree of 'love to God,' and that she will tend and watch it, until its branches reach the skies and meet before his throne."

"And the weeds, father?"

"When you were impatient with baby, you sowed the seed of ill temper. When you waited some time after your mother called you, you sowed disobedience and selfishness. These are all noxious weeds.—Pull them up. Do not let them grow in your garden."

The following witty comments on books are from the Boston Commercial Bulletin:

Mabel's Cross—She'll feel better soon.
William Tell—Don't do it, William.
Dear Native Land—That's so—gold 135.
'Ave Maria—Hi prefer Hemily.
Sweet Flour—St. Louis brands.
I will Trust Thee—I wish you were my tailor.
They Offered Me—Rank—What—butter?

A CARD.

Numerous inquiries have been made of me recently, as to the time when the second edition of my Book of Forms will appear, and I think it probable that other inquiries will be hereafter made. I have deemed it best to relieve myself from the necessity of writing many letters on the subject to gentlemen of the legal profession, in different parts of North Carolina, by stating in a card, addressed to the public, that I expect to place my manuscripts in the hands of the printer about the middle of May next, and I have reason to believe that the printing and binding can be completed by the first of July next.

BAUGH'S

RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TRADE MARK

Manufactured under the formula originated in 1854 and patented by

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE PROPRIETORS, AT THE

Delaware River Chemical Works,

PHILADELPHIA, U. S. A.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed and it contains all their original organic matter. It is active in its operation, and is a fertilizer of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil like Peruvian Guano, but on the contrary permanently improves it.

Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits. Pamphlets containing well-know Southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

☞ Sold by Dealers in all the principal cities and towns throughout the United States and British Provinces.
